Airbus Defence and Space (Airbus DS) unites an unrivalled range of capabilities and skills, to make it:

- Europe's No. 1 in defence and space
- among the top 10 defence companies worldwide
- world-leading player in the space industry

Airbus DS's world-renowned range of products including Eurofighter, A400M and Ariane launcher.

Airbus DS has been a global leader in space manufacturing for over 50 years, in:

- earth observation satellites
- telecommunication satellites
- space exploration and science

Its space technology has had an exponential impact on our daily lives, from the way we observe our world to how we connect.

Technology and engineering requirements are especially stringent and demanding in defence, security and space exploitation.

Airbus DS has a tradition of strong relationships with schools and universities.

Our visit will include seeing the manufacture of telecommunications satellites, space mechanisms and components, Earth observation satellites, and the Mars yard test area where autonomous navigation is being developed for the European Space Agency ExoMars mission.
